Aeronaves e Motores Jorge Hom The test was then paired with the pre-army aptitude test results in September 2002 for a descriptive analysis in comparing the scores of the pre-army test and the selection test results of candidates who took both tests. The study further found a significant correlation of the mean scores of the selection tests with the Verbal Ability sub-scales. The study also found that the scores of the selection tests were significantly correlated with each other. Thus, the presence of a positive correlation between the scores of the different selection tests give an indication of a consistency in the assessment of a candidate, which can serve as an indication for the potential candidate's ability to succeed in the army.

The third research question that was addressed in this study was whether the scores of the questionnaires administered to candidates after their military training could serve as an indicator of their academic performance after training. Furthermore, the study also looked at the relationship between the scores in the questionnaires administered after the military training and the scores of the selection tests administered prior to the training in order to check whether there was any consistency in the assessment of candidates after their training. The fourth research question was whether the scores in the questionnaires administered to candidates after their training could serve as an indicator of their motivation to remain in the army after their training. The fifth research question in this study was whether the percentages of the candidates who either decided to quit or fail their course of military training could be correlated with the scores in the questionnaires administered after their training. The sixth research question was whether the two types of scoring system of the questionnaire could be correlated with the results of the selection tests administered prior to training. The seventh research question was to find out if a correlation existed between the scores in the different questionnaires administered after the training and the scores of the selection tests administered prior to training. The eighth research question was to find out if a correlation existed between the results of the different selection tests and the results of the different questionnaires administered after training. The ninth and final research question was to find out if there was any correlation between the results in the selection tests administered prior to training and the results of the selection tests administered after the training, and if there was any correlation between the scores in the different questionnaires administered after the training and the scores of the selection tests administered prior to training. For this purpose, two statistical analyses namely the Student's t-test (assuming normal distribution type. And, of course, the index.php needs to know that the MIME type is correct, so it can decide what to do. Q: How do I have a modal popup open with Javascript I am trying to make a modal popup when an input field is clicked. I am using the code below, with no success. What am I doing wrong? function show() { alert("hi"); } A: You need to close the window with window.close function show() { window.open("",',', 'width=400,height=300'); } Q: Is a bond "market bought" when a loan is made, or a loan "market bought"? When a bank makes a loan to a borrower, the amount loaned is "bought" in the bond market by the bank, the borrower will pay back the loan plus interest as a liability. This means that the bank now owns a bond with the face value of the loan (the
