If you have any suggestion you can mail usQ: AngularJS service update from another service I'm trying to implement a module for my AngularJS app. The module should update an entry in the database and the UI with the new information. In my example, I want to change the color and text of the "hello" string in index.html from the colorService service. The problem is that while the text of the hello element changes, the text of the "hello" element in index.html does not. Can someone help me out? Service: 'use strict'; angular.module('moduleName') .service('colorService', function () { var color; this.setColor = function (color) { color = color.color; this.color = color; }; this.getColor = function () { return color; c6a93da74d
