During the study, there were two presentation-modes to enable the remote control of the hardware described in Section 3.0. In April 2015, seven audiologists and eight speech-language pathologists from three different sites in Western Norway, participated as remote or onsite audiologist(s) to the children referred for a HA-programme. The onsite audiologist(s) had all completed at least one year of HA-programme experience with Noah and all had basic knowledge of Noah 4 hardware and software. However, the remote audiologist(s) did not have any prior experience with Noah, no knowledge on how the system functions and nor had they ever worked with Noah before. The onsite and remote audiologists had the same roles, i.e. they performed all child assessments and made all decisions about which children would receive appropriate HAs and which children would not. I am at the end of my Rnd 6 and my baby is only about half way done. I will be posting up the 24 week update soon. I thought the HM view of karyotype was like a narrow band of chromosomes. The view in the 21&22 view is a great way to visualize and understand the shape of the whole genome. The banding on the long arms of one chromosome looks a lot like the banding on the other chromosome. If you want to look for a few different chromosomes at the same time, you can see a whole lot more at once. If anyone else wants to try this, I would highly recommend using the NM viewer. The view controls are a little complicated and I found it a little difficult to get used to. Mommy said I was doing great and my blood pressure had been decreasing for the past few weeks. My foot doctor said that my foot pain was getting better. When I touched it for the first time in a while I could feel it again! I was so happy to go back and get checked out. Mother's day last week was my last appointment and she said she could feel the tip of the probe just hitting the top of the nerve. I asked her if I could feel it and she said yes! That is so exciting to know that something is actually working! We still have a long way to go and this is the hardest stage of the whole process. Right now I feel like a clump of poop with legs. To be honest, I don't know where the heck to go next. I feel like I am being beat up, almost everyday. The ups and downs are pretty intense. I still have my blood pressure jitters. I think the most grueling part of this whole ordeal is that I am constantly being asked if my pain is bad. Yes, it is. I know it is because I can feel it, and see it. This little guy in the picture has been watching over me through this whole thing, although he has taken a vacation for the past couple of weeks. He is back and stronger than ever. He has been tough on me but I know he has given me a reason to continue. Sorry, friends, I haven't been here much this time. I have been hard at work on the Ice Queen's butt. We are still praying for a 4.25 and we are getting closer, but are not sure what it is going to take to get it. I am glad my blood pressure is going up. I would like to see it increase more and more and I am hoping to get to the point where I feel like I am a normal mother at this stage in the process. I would love to get it down to 80/30.
